

- 1 • Give thanks for the way God made your husband. Acknowledge that God is the creator of your man and the author of your marriage.
- 2 • Give thanks for the opportunity for growth even though it doesn't feel like a wanted opportunity.
- 3 • Find something your husband is doing right and praise him for that. Don't stop at just one thing. Find many things he's doing right and tell him about them.
- 4 • Voice your belief in your husband. Tell him that you know he can land the job, support your family, disciple your children, love you well, etc. Be specific. Your belief in him is half the battle.
- 5 • Pray for your husband to respond to God's work in obedience and pray that you can honor him through the process.
